

U. S. BOARD ACTS TO HALT RAIL STRIKE

ASSERTS NESTOS EVADES TALK ON PROPOSED LAWS

Commissioner of Agriculture
Hagan Speaks on Results of Tour in the West

DECLARES HIS CONFIDENCE

Asserts Comparison of Crowds
in Slope District Shows
More Interest in League

Declaration that his opponents in the recall election refrained almost entirely from discussing the initiated laws in their speaking trips west of the Missouri river was made today by Commissioner of Agriculture John N. Hagan, who was in his office at the capitol for a brief period this morning before resuming his campaign tour.

"They seemed to be evading discussion of the initiated laws," said Mr. Hagan, referring to the tours of Nestos and Johnson, "and in my opinion the laws are the most important part of my campaign talk."

Mr. Hagan, speaking of his tour, said that he was in every Slope county except Sioux county, speaking two to three times a day, and only at two meetings did he have less than 100 people. His largest crowd, he said, was at Lefor, Stark county, where he spoke to 2,500 people. In several other places, he said, the halls were not large enough to accommodate the crowds.

"In comparing the league crowds to those of the opposition, he said that at Center where Nestos and Johnson both appeared he was informed the hall was a third filled. He talked there Saturday night, he said, and the hall was filled, planks were placed along the side and 50 or 60 people stood.

"If Mr. Nestos and Mr. Johnson received encouragement in their trip west of the Missouri river, I failed to find a reason for it," said Mr. Hagan. His crowds, he said, were two to ten times as large as those of Nestos and Johnson.

Refers to Own Loan.
Mr. Hagan said he devoted much time to a comparison of the present rural credits arrangements and the proposed Rural Credits initiated laws. He said Nestos and Johnson seemed to have spent most of their time criticizing individual members of the administration, his farm loan and Lemke's house.

Regarding his own farm loan from the Bank of North Dakota, he said, he had been told Nestos said his application number was 1,219 and his farm loan was number 36. Mr. Hagan said he did not remember about the application number but his loan was number 36. He said that when he made his application there was no mortgage on his land, no back taxes and no liens. On most of the applications from farmers there were back taxes, mortgages or liens to be considered by the finance board of the bank. His loan went through quickly because there were no complications. It required two to six months to put many applications in shape before a loan could be made, he said, explaining why his loan was among the first.

"Mr. Nestos said I violated the law in getting my loan," said Mr. Hagan. "Evidently he had not read the law for the law gives any citizen a right to get a loan."

Governor Frazier came into Bismarck to spend a few hours before resuming his speaking tour. He went to Braddock this afternoon.

LEGION MEN GET ONE CENT RATE

Extended to Include Travel on Pullman Cars

It is expected that 25 American Legion members of Bismarck and other towns in this section of the state will leave Bismarck for the American Legion convention in Kansas City.

Definite information has been received that the 1-cent-a-mile rate has been extended so that holders of tickets on Pullman cars, certificates to enable Legion men to get the one-cent rate may be obtained from P. G. Harrington, adjutant of Lloyd Spetz Post.

A. A. Jones, of the local delegation, says that the Northwest special will leave Minneapolis at 8:30 a. m. Sunday morning, Oct. 30, and over the Rock Island and arrive in Kansas City at 11:40 p. m.

JEWELS STOLEN.
Paris, Oct. 17.—Madame de Wendel of this city, left on a package of worth 1,000,000 francs in a taxicab while driving from the Gare d'Orsay to her home, the other day. The police still are looking for the chauffeur.

A case is on record where a chauffeur found a packet of jewels worth 25,000 francs, which had been left in his taxicab and returned them to the owner.

BURTNESS PUTS OUT LETTER TO ALL THE VOTERS

Congressman From First District
Addresses Message to People of Entire State

TALKS ON SALE OF BONDS

Congressman O. B. Burtness, of the First district, elected with anti-Non-partisan endorsement, has added another note to the recall campaign in a letter to the voters of North Dakota. He says in part:

"I have read with interest the press reports that the industrial commission has sold some state bonds of each of the real estate and mill and elevator series. I also note that the League newspapers are loud in their praises of the state administration for accomplishing this wonderful feat and that they claim that with all possible arguments in favor of the recall have been eliminated."

"I feel certain that upon a little reflection such reasoning will not appeal to the intelligence of our people. The fact that the bonds have probably been sold and that the state will receive the proceeds from such sales aggregating, as the League newspapers claim, upwards of four million dollars is but an added reason why each taxpayer should see to it as a business proposition for himself and his state that the present visionaries constituting the industrial commission be removed and men who will conduct the affairs of the state in a sane business like way take their place."

"I am glad some of the bonds have been sold. The money is sorely needed to release the funds of school districts, villages, to villages and counties now tied up in loans of doubtful value so that such municipalities may continue to function. It is also needed for the completion of the state mill and elevator. After almost three years of effort about 25 per cent of the authorized issue has finally been sold by the state administration not because it is in control but in spite of the impediment to the state of such control."

"This has been accomplished at enormous expense for advertising and publicity, for traveling expenses of state officials, for salaries and other expense of numerous agents of the state bank and the like."

Refers to South Dakota.
"In the meantime South Dakota has disposed of ten times that many of her securities practically without a cent of expense."

"North Dakota is just as wealthy as her sister to the south. Why the difference? Can it be accounted for in any other way than lack of confidence in and contempt by our state officials, men who have held their offices above the law and represented the people in the state capital and in the halls of Congress?"

MANY STARS FALL.

HOTEL, SCENE OF FARGO MURDER, FORCED TO QUIT

Fargo, Oct. 17.—The Prescott hotel, Seventh street south, the building in which Miss Marie Wick of Grygala, Minn., was found tied, gagged, assaulted and murdered on the morning of June 7, last, has been closed.

The hotel which gained notoriety in connection with the murder and the preliminary examination of William Gummer, clerk on duty at the hotel on the night of the crime and charged with the murder, has been a losing proposition since the murder.

The place was operated by Mrs. Anna E. Lawrence, who did not re-open her lease on the building on Oct. 1, the date of its expiration. Since that date the hotel has been closed. It is understood the building will be remodeled by its owner. It is one of the oldest business blocks in Fargo. For years it was the home of the Fargo Argus.

Like the first group the walkout on the second division of roads will affect every section of the country but hits the east the hardest, a section left practically untouched on the first day.

The second group walkout will come at 6 a. m. local standard time, Nov. 1. Three of the remaining largest roads in the country are included on the third group on which the strike is set for 6 a. m. Nov. 3.

The entire Burlington system, the New York Central lines east and west, and the entire system of the Baltimore and Ohio are among those which will feel the strike blow Nov. 3. The balance of the third and fourth groups include the remaining roads of the country.

50 Walkouts Planned.

The roads include all those announced as definitely grouped with the remainder of the third group the railroads affected by the first three walkouts will total approximately fifty. Several of the large roads with the designation "entire system" or "lines east and west" including numerous smaller lines.

It is expected that all the principal roads of the country will feel the effect of the walkout by November 3, when the men on the third group are scheduled to leave work. The remaining roads of the country will be included in the walkout Nov. 5.

Congressman Announces He'll Come to North Dakota

Congressman George M. Young will leave Washington tomorrow for North Dakota, in order to take part in the recall campaign to help the Independents according to a Fargo announcement today. Mr. Young offered his services about the same time that a request for them was sent from headquarters. Mr. Young wired this reply:

"Your telegram inviting me to help in speaking campaign was not delivered to me until twelve hours after I had handed out a statement to the press that you had not invited me but that it was up to every friend of sound government to volunteer for service. Will go wherever you think I can do most good. I will stand my own expense, except automobiles which must be furnished where needed."

Congressman Young will make two speeches daily until the end of the campaign if the situation in connection with the threatened railroad strike does not necessitate his return to the capital before election day.

VOTE NEARING ON TREATIES

Senate Limits Debate on Proposed Pacts

Washington, Oct. 17.—With a final vote expected not later than Wednesday the senate was prepared today to begin consideration of the German peace treaty, under an agreement limiting each senator's time to one hour on the treaty and 15 minutes on reservations. A vote might be taken late today or tomorrow, leaders said, as a number of senators did not plan to consume the full time allotted them.

STRIKE NEWS LOWERS WHEAT

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Wheat took a big downward swing in price today, largely as a result of expectation on exchanges here that the threatening railroad strike would take place instead of being settled beforehand.

As much as 7 cents a bushel was slashed from values before the fall was stopped.

Something of a rally was witnessed at the finish, which, however, was at a net decline of 5.5-6 to 6.1-4 cents.

THREE PROPOSALS ADVANCED BY OFFICIALS; UNION MEN CONTINUE THEIR PREPARATIONS

Indications Are That Opposition May Arise Among Some of Lesser Groups of Rail Unions to Proposed Walkouts.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The government through its various departments today began a survey of the situation as developed by the call of the railroad union leaders for a general strike beginning Oct. 30.

Officials from President Harding down to departmental bureau chiefs and secret service agents were known to be watching the situation closely.

The whole range of possibilities was regarded by officials as so nebulous at present as to make it practical to await developments before taking action.

Postmaster-General Hays, in the only public statement issued up to noon, declared "the mails will be moved."

Washington, Oct. 17.—Official Washington's interest in the impending national railway strike centered today in the reaction of railway executives and labor leaders to the proposal of the public group of the railroad labor board of "one feasible plan" to prevent the tieup of the country's transportation systems. In brief the board proposed:

That the railways immediately put into effect freight rate reductions equivalent to the wage reduction authorized last July.

That requests for further wage decreases be withdrawn.

That the employees withdraw their strike order pending action of the board upon any requests for further wage reductions which the carriers subsequently might file.

RAIL CHIEFS CONSIDER PLANS

Cleveland, Oct. 17.—First conference on plans for carrying forward the general railroad strike intended to tie up the nation's transportation system were begun here today.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Engineers, was conferring with the vice-presidents of that organization who are to be in direct charge on the job directing plans for the walkout of members of his organization and Mr. Lee conferring with his subordinates. The three leaders of the other Big Five transportation organizations were expected to arrive during the day for the general conference of the Big Five leaders Tuesday. The three other leaders are: L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railroad Conductors; W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen, and T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union of North America.

HEADS OF LESSER GROUPS TO MEET

Chicago, Oct. 17.—While heads of the Big Four Brotherhoods and of the Switchmen's Union prepared to meet in Cleveland tomorrow to complete plans for the railroad strike which they have called for October 30, union chiefs said today that leaders of some of the 11 other railroad labor organizations still were opposing a walk-out and would attempt to prevent their men from joining the five organizations which have definitely committed themselves to a strike. The Big Five membership numbers only 400,000 of the 2,000,000 railroad employees.

Whether the opposition of these leaders will result in a break between the two groups which have not cooperated wholeheartedly on any question will not be fully revealed until the meeting of the general chairman of the 11 unions here sometime this week when issuance of a formal strike call will be voted on formally.

Majority Rule Expected.
Several railroad labor chiefs today said, however, that they believed the majority would rule and that it would be a case of "majority strike, all strike." They professed to see little chance of a break.

Leaders of these 11 unions at a meeting last week informally pledged themselves to support the Brotherhoods in a strike and since then have been going ahead with their plans for a walkout although deferring issuance of the actual strike call.

Differences over the advisability of a strike have arisen primarily through failure of the Brotherhoods and the other 11 to reach a satisfactory agreement on the duration of the strike, labor leaders said.

No Tie-up Save Executives.
From the railroads assurance continued to come that a strike would not tie up transportation while industrial leaders of the middle west asserted that there was little danger to the rest of the larger industries and virtually no chance of a serious food shortage although the packing plants have very little surplus on hand and would have to close within three weeks after the start of an effective strike, according to their officials.

The Brotherhoods made known last night that they had revised the list of roads to which the first of a series of proposed progressive walkouts would start so as to exclude the Pennsylvania lines, the Erie and the Louisville and Nashville roads. This leaves no eastern roads to be affected by the first walkout.

The walkouts are scheduled to take place in four groups, one every forty-eight hours starting at 6 a. m. standard time, October 30. Consequently the east would not feel the strike until at least November 1.

KU KLUX KLAN IN WISCONSIN? $1,000 REWARD IS PAID CHIEF

Martinson Given Money For Tracking Down Henry
Laver

A $1,000 reward for his efforts in tracking down Henry Laver, serving a life sentence for the murder of eight persons near Turtle Lake, was paid to Chief of Police Chris Martinson, of Bismarck, today by Governor Frazier.

Nelson A. Mason, secretary to the governor, said: "The payment of the reward was delayed because the case was in the courts. As soon as the governor came to his office today after the supreme court had finally disposed of the case he was glad to make the payment of $1,000 to Mr. Martinson. It could not be done before the courts had finally acted."

Other officers in the case signed a statement to the effect that Chief Martinson was entitled to the reward.

TRIBUNE SUIT IS DISMISSED

Chicago Judge Upholds Newspaper's Right to Criticize City

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Judge Harry Fisher today sustained the demurrer of the Chicago Tribune to the $10,000,000 libel suit brought by the city of Chicago. He declared the city had no cause for action and denied it the right to amend its petition.

The suit brought identical suits against the Tribune and Daily News-Examiner, claiming the papers had printed false statements regarding Chicago's financial standing and thereby injured the city's credit.

Judge Fisher declared the portions of the English common law and statutes which restricted the liberty of the press had not been inherited by this country.

"This action," he said, "is not in harmony with the genius, spirit and objects of our institutions."

The decision was of far-reaching importance to newspapers as the suit was the first on record in which a municipality sought to restrict the right to criticize its corporate acts.

McADOO FORCES BACK WOOLLEY

Fights to Make Former Interstate Commerce Commissioner National Chairman

(By Harry Hunt)

Washington, Oct. 15.—McAdoo, former president in 1924 forces in the Democratic party are expected to try to make Robert W. Woolley national chairman at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee scheduled to open in St. Louis Nov. 1.

This means that they will try to oust George White, the present chairman and close friend of James M. Cox, who was defeated for president by Warren G. Harding.

Woolley was director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee in 1916. Later he served as director of the mint and interstate commerce commissioner under the Wilson administration.

Many local Democrats favor McAdoo's candidacy in 1924. It is definitely known. These include some former members of the Wilson cabinet, the fight, if it comes, will be only a continuation of a tilt that has flared up intermittently ever since White became chairman.

Selected by Cox

When Cox was asked to pick a chairman for the committee last fall he selected White from a long list of aspirants.

The opinion prevailed that White didn't want the job and that he'd resign as soon as the election was over. But White stuck and to the present he's given no indication that he intends to resign.

Acting on the assumption that White would resign, some elements began to boom Woolley for the chairmanship at a meeting of the executive committee here right after the election. A tilt of considerable intensity developed.

But the meeting ended in a vote of confidence being given to White.

Fight Carried On

Since that time the Woolley supporters have been waging their fight quietly. It is reported, and marshaling forces for a smash at the November meeting.

Some say Woolley can't become chairman because he isn't a member of the Democratic National Committee. But neither was White when he was appointed. An Ohio member of the committee gracefully resigned and White was put in his place, thus making him eligible.

Similar maneuvers could be employed in Woolley's behalf.

DEER SEASON OPENS NOV. 21

Steele N. D., Oct. 15.—Confusion concerning the open dates for deer hunting in North Dakota has caused George M. Hogue, secretary of the North Dakota Game and Fish Commission to make a very definite statement of dates and conditions. Bucks, only, may be shot November 21 to 30 inclusive. The first day of deer hunting is November 21. The final day of deer hunting in North Dakota is November 30th. Females may not be shot at any time and each hunter is allowed to kill but one buck in the open season.

Deer hunters must wear a coat and hat of dark blue or black material and resident hunters are requested to have only a resident license. Mr. Hogue calls the attention of hunters of the state that the laws governing hunting and shooting of deer can be found on page 82 of the North Dakota Game and Fish Laws, Section 10298.

PIONEER WORKER IN TEMPERANCE BATTLE IN STATE DIES IN WEST

Tower City N. D., Oct. 15.—The death recently in Los Angeles (Cal.) of M. H. Kiff, has removed one of the pioneer residents of this community. He was one of the leaders in the fight for the establishment of prohibition in North Dakota. Of him the Tower City Topic says:

"M. H. Kiff was known to all the old timers of this community and will be remembered as a state leader in prohibition. North Dakota is recognized as the original prohibition state, and Tower City the birthplace of state prohibition which developed into the national act. Mr. Kiff was an ardent worker in the cause against rum and its results, and he lived to see the hopes of 40 years ago come into being. In those days the small band of men and women in this state who talked and who saw the present day, were scoffed at for liquor had such a hold upon the people that few thought America would ever back that band of men and women in their fight against rum."

"Mr. Kiff was born in Belmont, Me., June 1, 1839, and served in the Civil war as a member of the navy of the Union. On the sixth day of April, 1862, he was united in marriage to Mercy A. Delano, to which union five children were born: Nettie E., Fennie B., Susie E., William L., and Herbert W. Of the five children but two survive their respected father, Mrs. Nettie E. Moore of Lisbon, and Herbert W. Kiff of Missoula, Mont. Mr. Kiff's first wife passed to the great beyond on the 11th day of July, 1911, and is resting the eternal sleep in the local city of the dead."

"In the year 1881 Mr. Kiff moved to Tower City from Lisbon and opened a general store here, and many of the old timers still call it Kiff's store, the location being the present Wells business block. Nine years ago, his advancing age and the coldness of our northern winters became too hard for him, and he removed to California. There he had since resided. On the sixth day of November, 1914, he was united in marriage to Mrs. Dina E. Simpson of Los Angeles, who was a very helpful and dear helpmate to him through the last years of his life and who today mourns his loss. For the last few years he was an invalid and the closing of the book of life of Mr. Kiff came as a relief for he was gladly to take the journey of eternity gladly and with the true spirit of a Christian to carry on."

HIGHTOWER IS FOUND GUILTY

Itinerant Baker Is Held Guilty of Killing Priest

Redwood City, Cal., Oct. 15.—William A. Hightower, itinerant baker, was declared guilty by a jury yesterday of first degree murder in connection with the death of Father Patrick E. Heslin, a Colma, Cal. Catholic priest. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

A motion for an appeal will be filed Saturday at which time it is expected sentence will be pronounced. Hightower took his conviction calmly. The jury was out less than two hours. Father Heslin accompanied a muffled stranger, the night of August 2 from the parish house at Colma, taking with him the sacrament to administer to a supposedly dying man.

The next day a letter demanding $5,500 ransom was received at St. Mary's cathedral in San Francisco, and on August 10 Hightower appeared at Bishop Edward J. Hanna's residence in San Francisco asking for the $5,000 reward offered for the recovery of Father Heslin, alive or dead, saying he had a clue to the missing priest's whereabouts.

He led a party of policemen and newspapermen to a sandy cliff at Salada Beach, six miles from Colma, where the priest's body, with the head crushed in and two bullet holes in the body was found in a shallow grave.

GIRL, 10, FOUND DRUNK; PROBE IS NOW UNDER WAY

Minot, N. D., Oct. 15.—Investigation is being carried on by school officials and authorities into the finding of a 10-year-old girl drunk in a coulee a short distance from the city limits Sunday.

The girl, whose name is withheld, was found by a party of women, lying in a coulee Sunday, thinly dressed and lying on her face. She had been in that position for about three hours, it is said, and was in a complete stupor, caused from drinking whisky or some other intoxicant. Her condition was serious, and police rushed her to the hospital, where artificial respiration was used to revive her.

According to the story that authorities have picked up so far in their investigation, the girl was one of a party of two girls and three boys, who had gone out Sunday afternoon. It is claimed that one of the boys had some liquor, and persuaded the girls to take some. The girls were soon overcome, but the other two managed to get home. The ages of all the boys and girls range between 10 and 14 years.

Members of the party were being questioned today, in an effort to shed further light on the matter, as to where the stuff that was drunk was secured.

GOLDEN RULE GOVERNS CITY

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 15.—This Michigan city of nearly 15,000 inhabitants, having a commission manager form of government, is being governed in the spirit and principle of the Ten Commandments.

Mayor H. N. Klock, manufacturer, churchman, one-time newspaper editor and publisher, says any city may be operated under the Ten Commandments.

At a recent meeting of the Michigan Methodist Episcopal conference here Mayor Klock welcomed the delegates and was quoted as having said he was "going to run Benton Harbor on the basis of the Ten Commandments."

"I cannot see anything revolutionary in the statement that a city is to be governed by the commandments," Mayor Klock said. "Every one of the 'shall nots' of the Mosiac tablets are written as the foundation of the law of every civilized land. The law given on the mountain of Sinai applied with equal force to Moses and the humblest person who wandered in the wilderness. It is hard to convict a man with a 'pull' and what I mean by operating a city on the basis of Ten Commandments is to enforce the law impartially."

"In Benton Harbor, as in other cities, there have been persons so high as to be above the law, others so low as to be beneath the law. It is the universal custom for many law violators when arrested, or fearing arrest, to enlist the good offices of some one in power. In this city there is now no power to which such appeals can be successfully made."

Mayor Klock was elected mayor during the past summer when the city voted to adopt the commission-manager form of government. Mr. Klock is prominent in church circles here.

A man said--

"My car is not running satisfactorily, and I haven't found a shop that has been able to locate the trouble. I came to you five years ago after trying other shops without success, and Mr. Whittey located and remedied the trouble immediately. With five years' more experience he certainly can do as well now, and I decided this was the place to come with serious trouble."

SERVICES FOR PIONEER TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Last Tribute to be Paid to James
P. Kenyon, One of Dakota's
Earliest Residents

SERVED IN U. S. ARMY HERE

Came to Western North Dakota
When Hostile Indians Over-ran the Country

Funeral services for James P. Kenyon, one of western North Dakota's earliest residents, will be held Tuesday morning at the Catholic church. Father Slag officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mr. Kenyon, who died Saturday noon after a long illness, had been in western North Dakota since in the '70s, serving for ten years in the United States army at various posts in the west. After he left the army he became a resident of Bismarck and had lived in the city continuously for forty years.

When Mr. Kenyon first came to western North Dakota it was a country over-run by hostile Indians. Louis Larson, who had been in the army with Mr. Kenyon, said that there were but three white men out soldiers between Yankton, S. D., and Bismarck. He told of an experience when he, Mr. Kenyon and an officer were leaving their army post to get some water a bullet whizzed by the officer. He took out his handkerchief, wiped his brow, remarking it was a close call and they went on.

Enlisted in Army.
Mr. Kenyon was born in Warrington, England, Nov. 17, 1841, and would have been 80 years of age next month. He emigrated to New York at the age of 23, there enlisted in the United States army in 1870 and served five years. His discharge paper, given at Ft. Stevenson, contained the rating of "excellent service." He re-enlisted for five years in 1875 at a camp on White river while the army was making a boundary survey. He was made corporal and first sergeant.

After leaving the army in 1880, Mr. Kenyon was with the quartermaster's department in Bismarck, the headquarters being where the weather bureau office now stands. Later he was connected with different banks in the city, spending over 30 years in banks. He was last with the Bismarck bank for 14 years. Mr. Kenyon served in term as city treasurer of Bismarck. For a few years he took a place at the state capitol, and for the last four years had been retired.

Member of Catholic Church.
Mr. Kenyon was a member of the Catholic church here, and possessed a wide acquaintance. He had suffered from enlargement of the heart, and had been unable to lie down for months. In spite of his advanced age and his ailment he made a brave fight, and it was thought for a time that he might pull through.
Mrs. Kenyon died in 1916. One son, John, and his family, survive.

DANIELS WILL TAKE STUMP IN RECALL FIGHT

Brother of Former Secretary of the Navy to Speak in North Dakota

LADD COMING IN STATE

C. C. Daniels, a brother of Joseph Daniels, former secretary of the navy, is announced as one of the Nonpartisan league's big speakers in the closing days of the recall campaign. Mr. Daniels is a New York lawyer, who investigated the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Glen Plumb, originator of the Plumb plan for managing the railroads, is to deliver seven addresses in North Dakota. Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, a league member of the legislature in that state, also is to come in North Dakota to speak.

Senator E. F. Ladd and Congressman J. H. Sinclair will speak in North Dakota, it is announced. Senator Ladd is due to arrive in Fargo tomorrow.

A. A. Liederbach, chairman of the league state committee, has issued a challenge for a debate on the question of whether or not the Bank of North Dakota is an essential part of the league program. He proposes that Cushing Daniels, of New York, will debate any man the I. V. A. may select. He proposes that the debates be held in Grand Forks, Fargo, Minot. Each side would stand half the expense involved.

Miss Margaret Healy, of Chicago, will join the league's ranks of speakers among the women of the state.

TWIN CITIES FIGHTING OVER LEASE FOR DAM

Minneapolis and St. Paul Are
Embroided in Difficulties
Over Matter

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—A three-cornered fight, with the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul and an utility company as contestants, is being waged for permission to lease power rights at the government dam. On October 18, the federal power commission will meet in St. Paul and listen to the three respective cases.

The river at the point where the dam is located, marks the boundary line between Minneapolis and St. Paul, with the mid-channel the dividing line. The docks, however, are within the city limits of Minneapolis.

Applications for the power rights from the two communities and the Northern States Power Company, which supplies power and electricity to the Twin Cities, followed the disruption of the Municipal Electric Corporation, formed under a Minnesota legislative act, with Minneapolis, St. Paul and the University of Minnesota as parties. St. Paul was first to withdraw from the corporation and filed a separate application, to be followed by the utility concern and Minneapolis.

Following up the application of the city of Minneapolis, the city council here has authorized the city engineer to submit plans for construction of a hydro-electric and steam plant at the dam and construction of transmission and distribution equipment, in an effort to impress the federal power commission of its ultimate intentions.

St. Paul city officials are expected to take similar action. The Northern States Power Company is preparing an elaborate case, it is said, and besides applying for the dam's power rights here, has made application for power sites on the St. Croix river at three locations and at Coon Rapids, near St. Cloud, on the Mississippi.

Engineers report that the high dam develops from 1,000 to 13,200 horsepower, with the former figure used as a minimum average figure. If power derived from the dam is used for municipal purposes, a massive transmission system must be built, engineers declare.

Papers of general interest as well as great importance to the scientific world will be read at the sessions. It is expected that a number of discoveries and achievements of the first importance will be revealed during the meeting.

Industrial diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, as well as the social service aspect of these troubles will be discussed. Reports on operations and treatments affecting the cure of various troubles from blindness to cross eyes will be presented.

Various hearing tests and the use of eye magnets will be discussed, while the use of radium and the X-ray in place of operations in certain cases will be unfolded to the visitors.

Dr. Chevalier Jackson, Philadelphia, noted for achievements in the removal of foreign bodies from the throat, lung and bronchial regions will talk on this subject and present a number of patients for operation.

Washington, Oct. 17.—An explanation of why in many cases "that letter never came" is believed by Postmaster General Hays to have been found in the revelation that an average of 70 pieces of mail are found daily in empty sacks and pouches sent to the mail bag repair shop in Washington.

About 3,000 sacks are received daily at the repair shop and of these something like one out of every two according to figures furnished Mr. Hays is found to contain a piece of mail, every letter to registered or special delivery letters to fourth class parcels. Considering there are 2,000,000 sacks and nearly 1,000,000 pouches used in the postal service about 2,500,000 of which on an average are stored for periods running from months to years. Mr. Hays believes a search will possibly bring to light much mail matter unaccounted for.

The Postmaster General has sent out an order to all points where the sacks and pouches are stored for an immediate inspection and "shaking down" of each in order to ascertain if any contain mail. Such mail if found will be specially marked and forwarded so that the addressee may know the cause of the delay. The order also provides that postmasters are to be held strictly responsible and must see that every sack in the future must be thoroughly inspected before it is cast aside.

The Methodist Episcopal church in the United States has a membership of nearly 4,500,000.

DOCK LABORERS IN RUSSIA GET 8 CENTS A DAY

Price of Two Loaves of Bread Are Paid Them For Their Work on Baltic

WRITER ENTERS RUSSIA

Fear in Entering Not Bodily Harm But of Difficulty in Getting Food

Batum, Oct. 17.—(By a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press)—Entrance into Russia through the Black Sea may be compared to a visit to a dreaded battle front. There's lots of fear of death and destruction but somehow one does not find them. These elements of uneasy sleep seem to lurk always just a little farther along.

The traveller has himself rammed full of vaccines against cholera, pest, smallpox and typhoid. Is made properly ill in advance, only to find that these diseases are just now out of season. The only thing he needs is quinine, not for himself but for malaria patients about the seaports.

Fear of Russia should not be based on fear of violence of bodily hurt, so much as to the discomfort of living in a land where social and economic conditions are very hard. Money is hard to earn. Docklaborers at Batum, when they work, may earn 5,000 rubles, or eight cents, per day, and this is the price of two pounds of bread.

After all the stories of revolutions and counter revolutions, the murders and whatnot, one is distinctly surprised to find people going about as usual. There seem to be more people than ever before. One wonders where they come from. They swarm about the cities, the train stations in the country, thick as ants.

Yet rich and poor seem alike engaged in the process of getting out of Russia. Many of the rich have done so. Their old life has been broken up, their social life, their life of educating and rearing families. Their manner of living and thinking doesn't fit in to the new chaos, and they prefer to get to Constantinople—so much so that it has become almost a Russian city—and thence filter through to Europe and there live on charity and their wits. Some manage to retain wrecks of their fortunes, for old Russia was rich beyond the dreams of western Europe. Everybody seems to have had gold and jewels in abundance. Those with property are still slipping away, and without too much difficulty or hindrance from the Soviet.

Only they must use caution. A certain Melikov, the Russian-Armenian owner of the newspaper Horizon, in Tbilis, had his home requisitioned, so he got leave to depart to Constantinople. On the way his baggage was searched, a diary was found telling his inmost reflections about the Bolsheviks and the new order of life, a diary that he possibly was intending to publish. The foolish man was hauled before the "Cheka," the secret police with extraordinary powers, from whose decision there is no recourse, and he was executed.

Landing from one of the various passenger and freight vessels that run weekly in and out of Batum, to and from Constantinople, the traveller finds that the Bolsheviks are not such dreadful people after all. It is far easier than getting to or from ship in Constantinople, where the allies reign.

There are a lot of guards at the gangplank, to steer departing travelers through the customs, but most anyone passes back and forth who wishes. There is first the formality of telling the port control who you are. He is a good-humored, patient, glorified Red guard who knows no language but Russian and that indifferently, there are so many dialects of Russian. He wears a peaked cap pushed on the back of his head, with its red star and the spade and shovel of labor.

The passengers, who have carefully collected all sorts of credentials in Constantinople from Soviet commercial missions, crowd about him, and he takes their names and looks casually at their visas. The Americans, who have only a bit of typewritten paper, a receipt from the United States

ANOTHER WOMAN ESCAPES

Mrs. McCumber Avoided a Serious Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time

Georgetown, Ill.—"After my first baby was born I suffered so with my left side that I could not walk across the floor unless I was all bunched over, holding to my side. I doctored with several doctors but found no relief and they said I would have to have an operation. My mother insisted on my taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. Now I can do all my own work and I am the Vegetable Compound that has saved me from an operation. I cannot praise my medicine too highly and I tell all of my friends and neighbors what the Compound did for me."

—Mrs. MARGARET McCUMBER, 27 S. Frazier St., Georgetown, Illinois.

Mrs. McCumber is one of the unnumbered thousands of housewives who struggle to keep up their daily tasks, while suffering from ailments peculiar to women with backache, sideaches, headaches, bearing-down pains and nervousness, and if every such woman should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial they would get well.

STAGE HEROINE OF "MAIN STREET"

"MAIN STREET" ON STAGE LOSES NOVEL'S CHARM

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

New York, Oct. 17.—If there is in your heart an abiding affection for "the old home town" you feel that the play "Main Street" maligns its characters more than Sinclair Lewis does in his tremendously successful novel.

But if you look upon "the folks back home" with unkindly recollections you will laugh aloud at their prototypes on the stage, whereas you were only disposed to chuckle at them in the book.

However, the play with its exaggerated characters and plot does not measure up artistically to the standard of the novel.

The novel is of more than 400 pages. Its chief interest is in what Carol Kennicott, the city-bred wife, said to Dr. Will, her Gopher Prairie-bred husband—and what the neighbors said about them.

Sinclair Lewis has a subtle way of turning this gossip into character delineation.

This subtlety is lost in the play. Romance would have fled long before matrimony arrived if Carol Kennicott were such a girl as Alma Tell plays her and Dr. Kennicott were such a man as McKay Morris delineates him.

The innocent interest of Carol in Erik Valborg, the youth with ambitions to leave Gopher Prairie and make a mark in the world, is converted into a rather glib situation on the stage. The affair between her husband and his boyhood sweetheart becomes an open scandal.

Consul, for their passport, generally have a Soviet letter in addition. The control officer doesn't stamp their papers afresh to show they may land. He merely indicates with a wave of the hand that passengers may debark, and they do, full of surprise that they have not been disturbed. Travellers in Europe are so in habit of being bothered that they think something is wrong, here, that they haven't been.

Asbore, in the sunshine, amid the tree-lined streets, sitting in a carriage with rubber tires, driving to a good restaurant, the traveller is still wondering why something hasn't happened to him, but it probably will not so long as he has money to pay his way and especially if he is an American, thanks to American charity influence and the general good standing of Americans in the hearts of the people.

In Batum, now controlled by the Moscow Soviet, affairs seem to slip in a certain loose groove. Nobody worries much about the political changes, but they do fear the "Cheka."

The most notable social change in the people of this little San Francisco, set by the seashore amid palms and flowers, at the foot of a fertile hill country, is that on the beach. In the old days the girls and women of the city used to bathe often without bathing suits in a space set aside for them where no men were allowed. During the past two years the wire fence shutting off this space has been stolen, and the place for women may be approached upon; but many of the women continue the old custom of bathing without suits.

While there is less and less furniture in the fine houses behind the park, at the leading restaurant may be had as good a meal as in Paris or London at one-third Paris or London prices. The strict morale of the early Soviet days has gone everywhere. Nobody censors or prevents anybody else from having a good time, if they have the money. The poor, who live in requisitioned villas or who sleep in the empty warehouse sheds along the waterfront, according to their luck, do not resent any longer the good fortune of others. Those who have better clothes or better quarters are merely fortunate, that's all.

For the spring, summer and fall, the ports and littoral of the Black Sea,

The story in brief, as the stage presents it:

It's a doggoned hot day in Gopher Prairie when Dr. Kennicott arrives with his bride. The neighbors do their best to make the bride feel at home. But on her very first sight of the place she determines to revamp it to her own ideals.

Several months later she entertains the town folk with a sketch enacted by herself and young Erik Valborg, an electrician with the soul of a poet. The audience laughs aloud at an error. The attempt at uplift fails.

She quarrels with her husband. To her, the neighbors are lowbrows, unworthy of her efforts. To him, they are humans, free to live as they choose.

Several months later Erik Valborg is leaving town. He comes to say goodbye to Carol and to give her a volume of poetry. They pack a picnic lunch and go out under the trees to read the poetry.

Ah, the neighbors' tongues wag then! Upon their return the doctor overhears Carol tell Erik that she is fond of him.

The doctor's boyhood sweetheart enters. Carol runs away.

She returns at the end of a year. She says she has met many people and has learned much. Evidently she has come to the belief that virtue resides in crossroad towns as well as in the great cities.

It's a play that will go great in the heart of the removed from country crossroads.

for foreigners with money, would prove cheap and pleasant resorts. Bolsheviks or no Bolsheviks. A big house may be rented for $6 to $10 a month, furnished, and servants may be had for their keep, and glad of the job.

SECOND RECALL PREVENTED BY THE STATE LAW

Following the completion of the present recall election on October 25, if Governor Lynn J. Frazier, Attorney General Wm. Lerlie and Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor John N. Hagan are retained in office, their opponents are stopped by law from again appealing to the recall as a means of removing them from office. One of the paragraphs of Chapter 93 of the Session Laws of 1919, which chapter defines the recall provisions in full, is:

"After one such (recall) petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officers during the term for which he is elected."

The three men against whom the present recall is aimed were last elected November, 1920, and their terms of office extend to December 30th, 1922. If they are recalled, the recalling three years will hold office until that date.

The paragraph does not prohibit other recalls in the period against other state officials, or against the officers that must take the place of men recalled, but if recalled in office, further attempts against them under the provisions of the recall are impossible.

A PARISIAN SURPRISE GOWN

BY MARIAN HALE

New York, Oct. 17.—Individuality is assuredly the keynote of this gown, which breathes anew into our modern fashions the spirit of 1830. Not only the shoulder cape but the removable gauntlets of astrakhan recall those old-time cuts of fashionable skaters in grandmother's days. Jenny, of course, is responsible for this Mary Wallis model, with its lovely, straight-lined, gray crepe gown girdled in silver links and the broad band of astrakhan at the bottom of the skirt.

The sleeves are long and the astrakhan gauntlets cut loose and long so that they meet the full cape.

This cape, with its huge silver filigree buttons, has a choker collar. It is lined with the gray crepe.

When the gauntlets and cape are removed, a charmingly simple and rich costume is revealed.

While the surprise of seeing a lady take off the accessories bit by bit, adds that ever fascinating Parisian chic.

UNAPPRECIATED FOLKS—HIS WIFE

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

You aren't smart and as cleverly put together as the girls he sees up town.

There isn't that elusive lure about you, that tantalizing sweet scent—ness which results when a vanity case and a girl join interests.

Sometimes a careless wisp of hair escapes the net. Sometimes you don't even wear a net, though you know in your heart you're the type which needs one. Your step hasn't that attractive buoyancy and your voice gets raspy, ragged.

You know you aren't the girl he married. You own it yourself. You know that he must see a tremendous change—but you know, too, that he never seeks the cause.

You know that he never considers the fact that he accepts you in such a matter of fact way that you feel silly attempting an subtleties. Besides he'd probably call you sharply for doing what he thinks is clever in other girls.

You're sure that he never realizes how many mornings he stalks away from the house without leaving you enough change to buy yourself a new net if the old one snaps in holes.

You don't expect him to see how many steps it takes to put away the papers and clothes he leaves strewn over the house and to see that Johnny and Mary don't get run over and don't fall in the creek but do get to school and look neatly.

You know that he doesn't realize how his nagging, his petty fault finding, his continual enlarging on your own faults is digging into your heart until you almost can't speak sweetly, to say nothing of thinking sweetly.

And so, since you know he doesn't think of all of these things—you forgive him! Now hand this to your husband.

MILTON SILLS in "THE FAITH HEALER"

TODAY and TOMORROW ELTINGE MATINEE DAILY 2:30

It is Free To you this week

This 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Present the coupon to the dealer named below.

Make this delightful test. Watch the quick effects—see the change in a week. Then you will realize what this new way means to you and yours.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acid which causes decay.

Five important effects come from every application. And modern authorities deem all of them essential.

Not for women only

The most conspicuous effect is glistening teeth. Countless women employ it largely on that account. Few things add so much to beauty.

But men also want white teeth. Men who smoke find that teeth discolor quickly, due to stains in the film.

Pepsodent means more than this, however. It means cleaner, safer teeth. Children need it even more than others. Their teeth are easily attacked, and very few escape. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used every day from the time the first tooth appears.

To all it means a new conception of clean, well-protected teeth.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

This test will prove a delightful revelation. To you and yours it may bring life-long benefits. Every day you wait may mean new damage. Cut out the coupon now. Present it this week.

A Surprise Tonight

If you will try this way to prettier teeth

This test will surprise and delight you. The results are so quick, so pleasing, so conspicuous.

Millions have already made it. The glistening teeth seen everywhere now show some benefits it brings.

Go get this free tube from the dealer named. Use it and watch the effects. It will open up to you and yours a new era in teeth cleaning.

Why prettier teeth?

This method brings whiter, prettier teeth because it fights the film. Your teeth are now covered with a viscous coat. Feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Old brushing methods do not remove it all. Enough remains to make the teeth both dingy and unsafe.

That is why teeth look cloudy. The film-coats absorb stains. Film also causes most tooth troubles. And, under old methods, all those troubles have been constantly increasing.

How film ruins teeth

Film dims the teeth's luster. It also forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Many other serious troubles, local and internal, are now traced to them.

Countless people find that teeth brushed daily still discolor and decay. The main reason lies in that film.

Now we daily fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

These methods are combined in a modern dentifrice called Pepsodent. Millions now employ it, largely by dental advice. The use is fast spreading the world over among those who know.

That is the tooth paste we ask you to try. Watch its effects on the film. See how your teeth improve. Then let your own good sense decide between old methods and the new.

Three other essentials

Modern science also requires three other effects from a tooth paste. The old methods did not bring them. Pepsodent brings them all.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

BASEBALL

World series bulletins had to be discontinued in Times Square, New York. Crowds that gathered there to see the traffic cops had to send for reserves.

Same baseball results were posted in Berlin, for the first time. Germans were mildly interested in first few innings. But they soon drifted back to their beer.

If German beer had been on sale one mile from the Polo Grounds, the Giants and the Yanks would have played to almost empty seats.

CANADA

Canada will hold a general election Dec. 6. Up there, they don't have set dates for voting. When their chief executives cannot agree with legislative bodies, or when parties become deadlocked, a general election is held, automatically, so the people can tell the government which side they are with.

No getting into office in Canada, and "staying put" for two, four or six years, regardless of what you do or don't do. Get results or get out, is the Canadian way. Should we copy the idea? Yes.

JOBS

Since July 1,244,000 workers have gotten their jobs back on four big railroads—Pennsylvania, Erie, New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford.

When railroads hire men, someone is buying, someone producing and shipping, which means better business. This is more important than who'll win the world series or whether it's true that Ben Turpin is going to have his cock-eye straightened. Most of us know that, though it interests us only on pay-day.

LIBERTIES

Rise in Liberty Bonds makes their value gain $1,250,000,000 from the "year's low." That is sad news for foolish investors who sold their Liberties to buy speculative stocks. It is bitter news to those who had to sell to pay the landlord, grocer and butcher. Good news, though, to bankers and others who now hold the bonds bought low and well on the upgrade to par or beyond.

Hang onto your government bonds, folks. Safest security in the world.

NEVER

Much debate! Who will be Caruso's successor in the opera world? The honor probably will fall to no one in this generation, or for many to come. Voices like Caruso's never come from heaven to earth more than once in a century, rarely that often.

When Madame Goldschmidt, (Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale") died in 1887, the world speculated about who would be her successor. Now we know that there was only one Jenny Lind. So with Caruso. Unfortunate, if you never heard him.

THRONE

William Leeds, son of a Pittsburg multi-millionaire, who made his money in tin-plate mills, marries Princess Xenia, daughter of Grand Duchess George of Russia. Young Leeds' mother is an American woman, now Princess Anastasia of Greece.

This news thrills and excites the envy of the idle and the vacuum-heads.

Millions made in the sweat of American steel mills have been put to various and peculiar purposes, but never quite as deplorable as rehabilitating the thrones of Europe. Far better that these misguided millionaires was the White Wolf, American adventurer, who helped make China a republic.

LIFE ON THE MOON

One of the world's greatest astronomers, Prof. William Henry Pickering, after many years' study, announces there is life on the moon. Human life? He doesn't say. But he is positive that the moon has vegetation which sprouts at dawn, grows with amazing speed, dies and vanishes completely within 11 days.

That is nature's way. If our summers lasted only a week, our crops would sprout and yield harvest in seven days. Farther north you go into Canada, the shorter the summers and the faster plant life grows.

Scientists, speculating whether there is life on any heavenly body except the earth, usually forget to tell this. The earth is better adapted for the support of human life than any other star—in climate, seasons, water and air supply and resources.

The earth is the best place to live, as far as astronomers know. Don't envy the Man in the Moon. Like the possible men on Mars, he may be older and more intelligent than earth-men, but he has a harder time to exist.

WAGES

The nation's manufacturing establishments last year employed 9,103,200 wage earners and produced $62,910,202,000 of goods, says a census summary.

That is, each wage earner produced products averaging $6900 in selling price.

Those who get less pay will wonder where the difference went. Answer: Rents, depreciation, new equipment, overhead, cost of living, and paying dividends on $44,678,911,000 capitalization of the manufacturing industries. First you work for money. Then money works for you—if you save and invest it.

THE DYING EMPEROR

The emperor of Japan, Yoshihito, is in immediate danger of death.

Official announcement of the Mikado's death would have tremendous bearing on world affairs, especially the relations between Japan and the United States.

For the Japanese believe that the Mikado is descended from the "gods" that created heaven and earth. He has supreme power over his subjects and can declare war without consulting anyone. Cabinet, parliament and party leaders have no control, no say, except by his sanction.

Hence a change of emperors would be very important. Much will depend on the whims and views of the new emperor.

Slated to be next Mikado is Crown Prince Hirohito, 20 years old. He is said to have democratic tendencies—probably because he is shrewd enough to recognize the increasing power of Japanese labor and the slowly growing Japanese tendency away from imperialism.

What is going on in young Hirohito's mind? If you knew, you could tell us much about Japanese-American relations in the coming decades. Of world importance are the brain and moral sense of Hirohito, future ruler of 77,000,000 Japanese who believe they become gods if they die in battle. Banzai!

Japan is the last stronghold of absolute monarchy. Kings have gone down like 10 pins.

The Hapsburgs, rulers for over seven centuries, are dethroned. So are the Hohenzollerns, who entered the king business in 1192. Russia has cast out the Romanoffs, whose dynasty started when a girl of the Roman family married Ivan the Terrible in 1547. China, 10 years ago, kicked out the system of emperors that had ruled it for 4000 years.

England and Japan are the last of the great powers ruled by monarchs. The English king is a figurehead.

Kingism, however, still is strongly entrenched in Japan. The Mikado dynasty began its reign 660 B. C. Yoshihito is the 122nd emperor of direct line of Mikado-family descent.

Advancing democracy will write "finis" on the Mikados. When? It may be in this generation.

WOMEN WANT MORE

The American women are asking congress for Federal recognition of their American rights as full citizens of the republic. Despite the fact that women have the ballot, the laws of certain American states today deny women their full civil rights.

The program includes a new constitutional amendment, declaring that "no political, civil or legal disabilities or inequalities on account of sex, or on account of marriage," prevail, together with a bill to give women the same rights, privileges and immunities as men.

It was announced that Senator Curtis, Republican, Kansas, and Representative Fess, Republican, Ohio, would introduce the new proposed constitutional amendment in congress, and that copies of the new bill had been sent to all state chairmen of the women's party, except Wisconsin, which already has enacted the law.

Women would have the right upon marriage to choose their names and have equal voice in custody of their children, legitimate or illegitimate, under the proposed new bill of the women's organization.

Other legal rights for women proposed include: Suffrage, eligibility for all offices, freedom of contract, choice of domicile, residence or name, jury service, acquisition and control of property, control of labor and earnings, eligibility for fiduciary positions, equality in grounds for divorce and penalties for sex offenses.

All common law disabilities of women would be abrogated under the legislation.

In this program is nothing to which any man can object, and the denial of the full program by any state is unfair to the women of that state. The amendment and the bill presented by Curtis and Fess should have smooth sailing through congress.—Emporia Gazette,

FORGET YOURSELF!

Think of Others If You'd Be Good Nurse, Says One Who Is

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

Washington, Oct. 17.—Thoroughly alert, one whose voice would grow neither tense nor hard under stress, one whose words would come in short low-toned sentences, freighted with not one extra syllable—that is Miss Clara D. Noyes, president of the American Nursing Association and director of the Red Cross Nursing Service.

"What natural qualifications must the girl who would study nursing have?" Miss Noyes repeated the question, then "Well—in the first place, I should tell her that it is a very lonely life, very lonely."

"Then, if she wants to go on I would ask her if she could live weeks and weeks without ever thinking in terms of herself and her family."

"Next I'd like to know something of her attitude of mind—how serious it is."

"And she must have administrative ability."

"That's all!" said Miss Noyes. "That's all of the natural ability a real nurse must have."

"America hasn't given enough thought to the education of her nurses," continued Miss Noyes, who passed on about twenty thousand nurses who applied for overseas and army work during the war.

"We have all kinds of little schools for everything imaginable endowed, but out of the 3000 nursing schools in this country there is not one which has an endowment."

"Of these 3000, however, only 1500 are recognized by the Red Cross, and in this connection I am trying to build permanent committees in various sections of the country which will work gratuitously, in an attempt to raise the standard of nursing schools and interest the general public in the education of nurses."

"The public scarcely realizes," said Miss Noyes, "how big a factor nurses are in the life of both the ailing and the well."

"Just consider the influence of our nurses who work among the Mohammedan women, among the Albanians who for 700 years have been under Turkish control."

"We have a mother's club in Albania," said Miss Noyes, "and in Athens we have a baby clinic which has cared for 700 babies."

"At first these women, especially the Mohammedans who had never been to a public meeting, regarded us with suspicion. They couldn't understand an unselfish interest in their babies, they couldn't accept our home hygiene."

"But we've won them over. Their babies are healthier. Their homes are more comfortable—and they regard America and the Red Cross nurse as very much a factor in their betterment."

Editor Tribune: That corn should be more generally grown in the state is evidenced by the fact that during the present year, 1921, there were twenty-one counties that produced from 100 to 150 per cent of a normal crop as reported by A. J. Surratt, Statistician, while the average for the entire state is 90 per cent. Wheat averages 8.5 bushels per acre, oats 19 bushels, barley 12.5 bushels, and rye 11.7 bushels. Potatoes also made 81 per cent of a normal crop, while eight counties made

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"Say kiddies" called Cap'n Penny-winkle, galloping up on Curly in a great hurry. "Did you see a bag of gold?"

"No, sir!" said Nick. "I didn't, did you, Nancy?"

But Nancy hadn't either. "Did somebody lose it?" she asked.

"Well, not exactly," answered the fairymen, reaching into his pocket and pulling out a letter. "But the Fairy Queen sent me this, and I thought I'd ask you." He unfolded the letter and handed it over. "Read it!" he nodded.

Now the Twins were not very far on in school. Indeed, they had only got to the page where it said, "There has been a big bun on the bin." But the letter was written in fairy language, so of course it was quite easy to read. Nancy read it out loud. It went like this:

"Dear Captain Pennywinkle,

"The gnomes have dug a lot of gold out of one of my mountains and put it into a bag and run off with it. My fairy helpers have searched and searched in every one of my Nine Hundred and Ninety Nine Kingdoms and all over the country of the gnomes, but they always come home empty-handed. The other day, however, Silver-Wing, flying through the forest, overheard one of the gnomes say that they had buried it at the foot of the rainbow."

"We looked under one end of the rainbow, but the other end goes down under the ocean waves. Will you kindly ask the Wiggiekin people if they have seen it. Perhaps Nancy and Nick could find it as they were smart enough to find my pink pear."

"Hoping you may have good news for me, I am

Insect Causes "Jumps." Certain galls of the oak-tree that display a mysterious ability to "jump" or at least make sudden movements, have long been the subject of unscientific curiosity. It is explained that their motive power is, as in the case of the famous Mexican "jumping bean," a tiny worm—the larva of a gallfly, whose quick turns disturb the gall's center of gravity and cause it to "jump." 10-11-21

Many Native Negro Languages. Native Negro languages are a marvel. There are about eight hundred, and more than one hundred have been reduced to writing, said a missionary who has just returned from three years' travel over Africa. We know not for how many generations these languages have been passed from lip to lip, from parent to child, and from tribe to tribe. 10-11-21

"VAMPS" WHO MADE HISTORY

By JAMES C. YOUNG.

(By the Author of "The Vampire Who Trained a Tyrant.")

THE VAMPIRE WHO TRAINED A TYRANT.

ONE of the most dangerous women in the ancient world was Poppaea Sabina, wife of Nero. Under her tutelage he emerged from youth as a profligate and tyrant. History shows that before their meeting no other Roman emperor ever had a better chance of making good on his imperial job, and none ever failed so miserably. 10-11-21

When Nero came into power at the age of seventeen Rome was just becoming acquainted with the luxury of Greece and the Orient. But he had been raised like a Spartan by his mother Agrippina, who made him emperor almost single handed. The rigorous discipline of his mother presumably should have made Nero a brave, simple-living man, like the Romans of old. Instead, he quickly turned to luxurious ways of life. Then he met and loved Acte, an Asiatic woman. Agrippina forbade him to carry on the affair. Nero balked. He was emperor and not a mere boy any more. 10-11-21

The love affair with Acte estranged Nero and his wife, Octavia, whom he had married as a matter of statecraft. Then he fell under the sway of Poppaea Sabina and quickly abandoned Acte. Poppaea also was married but as mistress to Nero she chided him for subjection to his mother. Nero lost his head and set about doing whatever Poppaea bid. She was older than he, but beautiful and seductive—a vampire in very truth. And she went to make herself empress. Agrippina stood in the way, and Poppaea lost no chance to rub salt upon the wounds. 10-11-21

In Nero's pride, her promptings led him to his first and perhaps his greatest crime, the murder of his own mother. 10-11-21

When this deed had been done, Octavia still remained. But not for long. She was banished, then murdered. Poppaea became empress. 10-11-21

Nero, a prey to excesses of every kind, began to verge upon madness. He had many of the most prominent men executed, including even Seneca, the philosopher and tutor of his childhood. Then Rome was burned and the whole of the ancient world whirled began reconstruction on a grand scale and actually accomplished much in that way. But his race was run. His last supporters fell away, and one night the praetorian guard deserted its post, leaving the palace unguarded. Nero crept away in the darkness, alone. The senate met and forfeited his life, when he committed suicide, at the age of thirty-one. 10-11-21

It was not Poppaea who laid him at rest, but the gentle Acte, who alone claimed his body. 10-11-21

Egg Dances. The egg dance, now confined chiefly to Spain, among the people of Valencia, was a once popular diversion in England, Scotland, Holland and other parts of Europe. A number of eggs were arranged in a prescribed form upon the dancing floor, and among them a blind-folded dancer moved as best he might, to music, the object being to execute an intricate dance without breaking the eggs. The music, like the arrangement of the eggs, also was prescribed. 10-11-21

Great Desire for Understanding. I believe that the greatest desire of every human heart in the world is just this: The desire to understand his own experience. That is a hunger that is at the root of all the great religions in the world—of all great emotional activity whatever—the continual hunger of the human heart to get even with its own experience. To put it straight and ordered, so that it can understand instead of being bewildered.—John Drinkwater. 10-11-21

CONTRIVANCE TO WORK UNDER CAR

Runway Is Easily Put Together and It Will Pay for Itself in Very Short Time.

MACHINE QUICKLY ELEVATED

Inconvenience of Crawling Underneath Automobile Is Done Away With and Work Done With Minimum Amount of Labor.

When trouble occurs either with the under side of the automobile motor, or the rear end of the car, it is somewhat inconvenient to work without a pit. 10-11-21

To partially overcome this condition a garage man built a sort of runway, as illustrated, by which the end of a car could be quickly elevated about two feet off the floor, thus allowing fairly easy access to the parts. 10-11-21

Two wedge-shaped pieces were constructed of heavy spruce timber, five feet long by two feet high in the rear. The inclined ends of the timbers were fastened together by lag screws and the vertical backs secured to each other by a length of strap iron. The horizontal surface of the uppermost timber was hollowed out to receive the tire and the strap iron was continued 10-11-21

Improper inflation costs more than all other faults put together. By the simple expedient of taking the trouble once a week to make sure that each tire is sufficiently inflated, an owner will add amazingly to the mile age he gets from his tires. 10-11-21

Under this head it is well to repeat the old admonition the tires should be pumped to the same figure in summer as in winter. The expansion of the air in the tires in hot weather is so infinitesimal that it should be entirely disregarded, and the tire pumped up to the prescribed figure. 10-11-21

Scraping along a curb is an exceedingly common form of tire abuse. An evidence of the commonness of this practice may be found by noting the number of tires that are peeled or scraped on the outer side of the tire while the inner side is in perfect condition. 10-11-21

Bumping a tire into a curb, particularly when underinflated, is one of the most serious forms of mistreatment, for it causes breaks in a fabric foundation which quickly bring the tire's usefulness to an end. 10-11-21

Motor vehicle registration in Algeria exceeds 11,000. 10-11-21

In British India, there is, at present, an oversupply of automobiles. 10-11-21

Shanghai leads all other cities in China with the registration of 5,000 motor vehicles. 10-11-21

Seven different kinds of steel are used for the production of American-made automobiles. 10-11-21

In Tokyo, the capital of Japan, with a population of 2,700,000 souls, there are only 5,000 automobiles. 10-11-21

The United States government is now receiving more than $6,000,000 in automobile taxes every 30 days. 10-11-21

Most prominent of motor clubs in Brazil is the Associação Automobilista Brasileira of Rio de Janeiro. 10-11-21

Since January 1, 2,209 automobiles were stolen in New York city. This is at the rate of about fifteen cars a day. 10-11-21

The federal government provides automobiles for the departments of state, interior, labor and the attorney general. 10-11-21

Since January 1 permits have been issued in Philadelphia for the erection of 566 garages, at an estimated cost of about $1,000,000. 10-11-21

Motor garage repairmen in Norway must be experienced in the construction of American, Dutch, English, French, German and Italian cars. 10-11-21

Much Time Saved. The car can be run up this incline either by power or by hand, and the necessary work done with a minimum amount of inconvenience and labor. Of course it is not necessary to mention that it saves the repair man's back and nerves.—Thornton Hallett in Popular Science Monthly. 10-11-21

Don'ts to Motorist in Summer Season. Don't park your car over night under trees, for the foliage, aided by night mists, has a deteriorating effect and stains the finish. Certain trees throw off a dew which, if allowed to remain on an unprotected surface, will ruin the varnish. 10-11-21

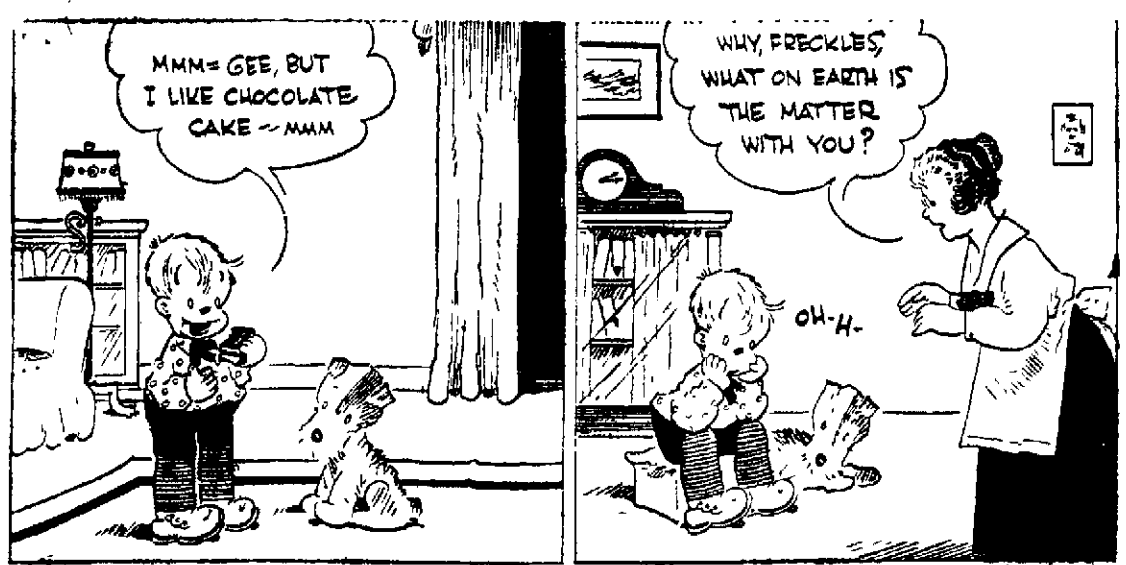

Don't allow any grease, oil, etc., to remain on surface of car for, aided by the heat of the sun, they will dry and crack the finish. 10-11-21

Don't allow mud spots to stay on the finish for any length of time for they will leave a mark that cannot be removed without injury to the varnish. 10-11-21
